

Abstract of the Disclosure

5 A focusing optic can be axially displaced along the optical axis in a housing with the aid of coarse and fine drives. The coarse drive includes a coarse belt drive by which the coarse drive and the focusing optic cooperate actively with one another and the fine belt drive is provided for connecting the fine drive and the focusing optic.